- Your sample request history will be used to contact you by telephone or email; ensuring we have provided the material(s) you requested and to help you with the placement of any orders, further information or samples.
- When you browse our website, we record the pages you visit, device type, IP address, and location data, should you chose to share it, for analysis. This is explained further in our cookie policy and below.

Security

We are committed to ensuring that your information is protected and to prevent unauthorised access or disclosure. We have, therefore, put in place suitable electronic, managerial and physical procedures to secure and make safe any information we collect online.

How we use cookies

A cookie is a small file which asks permission to be placed on your computer's hard drive. Cookies help analyse web traffic or let you know when you have visited a particular site. Cookies also allow web applications to respond to you as an individual; collecting and remembering information about your preferences to tailor their operations to your needs, likes and dislikes.

We use traffic log cookies to identify which pages are being visited and interacted with. Analysing this data helps us discover our most popular pages and which pages you find useful and which you do not. This means we can improve our website to provide information our customers want to see.

This information is only used for statistical analysis reasons. Data is then removed from the system. A cookie does not give us access to your computer nor does it provide any information about you, other than the data you choose to share with us.

Most web browsers automatically accept cookies however, you can instruct your browser settings to decline cookies if you prefer. Please note that by declining cookies you may be unable to take full advantage of the Performance Panels website.

Links to other websites

Our website may contain links to other websites of interest, such as our manufacturers. However, please note that we do not have any control over websites we provide links to and cannot therefore, be responsible for the privacy and protection of information you provide whilst visiting such sites. We recommend you exercise caution and look at the privacy statement of the websites you visit.

Online advertising

Occasionally we engage in online advertising which targets Performance Panels banners and adverts to you when you are on other websites and apps. This is achieved by using a variety of advertising technologies and digital marketing systems, as well as specific services offered by some sites and social networks.

The banners and ads you see may be based on information we hold about you, your previous use of the Performance Panels website, or Performance Panels advertising you have previously clicked on.

Keeping your personal information

We retain your information for as long as is needed to be able to provide the services to you, or for as long as is necessary to provide support-related reporting and trend analysis only.

Controlling your personal information

You may choose to restrict the collection or use of your personal information in the following ways:

- if you have previously agreed to us using your personal information for direct marketing purposes, you may change your mind at any time by writing to the address at the bottom of this Privacy Policy, or by emailing us at info@performance-panels.co.uk

We will not sell, distribute or lease your personal information to third parties unless we have your permission or are required by law to do so.

We do however provide companies we use, when sending sample requests, with certain data in order to fulfil your orders, such as your name and address. If we are sending a tracked postage order we will provide your telephone number to help the delivery company deliver your samples.

You may request details of personal information which we hold about you under the Data Protection Act 1998. If you would like a copy of the information held on you please write to:

Performance Panels Limited,
Carvic House,
Blackbrook Way,
Stainland Road,
